

Cloud Nine Presents

THE PURPLE PULLOVER

(and other misfits)

by Leonard Barras

Directed by

Jackie Fielding

A Lunchtime
Distraction

The show is totally free, and running riot through North Tyneside, Monday Oct 8 - Fri Oct. 19, 2007.

See over for Venues and times

ARTS COUNCIL
ENGLAND

NORTH TYNESIDE
arts

Cloud Nine Presents

THE PURPLE PULLOVER

Could love possibly be in the air for the Wallsend poet Herbert Mangle? Will he choose Monica, or Daisy? Or both? How will affairs of the heart affect his relationship with Wallsend Amnesia FC? Or with his beloved bicycle? And what of the inventor of the bicycle pump, the rugged Durham industrialist, Jeremiah Pump? As Mangle himself might have written (and indeed did write):

I can't forget that night in June:
You said you loved another
We parted at your garden gate
And snow fell on your mother

The latest 30 mins saga comes from Leonard Barras, North Tyneside's only true dramatic surrealist. The play, commissioned by Cloud Nine, is an hilarious piece of verbal gymnastics, a nutritious slice of absurdist theatre guaranteed to be a fine accompaniment to that lunchtime tuna and cucumber panini.

Catch it at one of the venues listed under. All performances are free of charge, but North Shields Library suggest that to reserve a seat for that venue, telephone beforehand on;

0191 2005424

Playing List

Mon. Oct 8	North Shields Central Library	1pm
Tues. Oct 9	North Shields Central Library	1pm
Wed. Oct 10	North Shields Central Library	1pm
Thur. Oct 11	North Shields Central Library	12.30pm
Frid. Oct. 12	North Shields Central Library	1pm
Mon. Oct 15	White Swan, Killingworth	12.30pm
Tues. Oct 16	Dudley's People's Centre	12.30pm
Wed. Oct 17	Oxford Centre, Longbenton	12.30pm
Thur. Oct 18	Shiremoor Centre	12.30pm
Frid. Oct 19	Howdon Comm.Centre, Wallsend	12.30pm

Cloud Nine, 5 Marden Tce Cullercoats, N. Shields NE30 4PD
(0191) 2531901, www.cloudninetheatre.co.uk